MISSION CONFERENCE.

MEETING OF HOME MISSION SO-CIETY OF NORFOLK.

he Woman's Home Mission Society of Norfolk District met in conference at Queen Street M. E. Church yesterat Queen Street M. E. Church yesterday at 9:30 a. m., the District Secretary presiding. The session was opened by devotions conducted by Mrs. J. C. Norsworthy, Rev. S. C. Hatcher, pastor of the church, made the conference cordially welcome, and rashly offered to be the servant of the ladies individually and collectively. The Secretary responded briefly.

Trinity Auxiliary, two years old, reported twenty-one members, There is no other woman's working society in Trinity Church, and all departments of work are well done.

Trinity Young Ladies' is but six weeks old. It has nine members, most of them school girls.

Cumberland Street has a society of thirty-eight men bers. They care for a little boy in the Orphan's Home, and for poor old ladies, besides various little charities.

Epworth has fifty-eight members. It mino-eight men bers. They care for a little boy in the Orphan's Home, and for poor old ladies, besides various little charities.

Epworth has fifty-eight members. It has subscribed $100 to the church building fund this year.

Mrs. H. E. Johnson explained very clearly the purpose of the Society's funds. The dues are half of them returned to the conference paying them, and half used to support the schools. The ioan funds are perpetual, only the interest being available.

A very able paper on the duties of the local Treasurer, written by Mrs. E. E. Cross, was read by Mrs. Norsworthy.

Mrs. Vaden, of Portsmouth, discussed the schools of the Society in an excellent paper.

A paper on the leaflets and reading course was read by Mrs. Struill, of Norfolk. The course for the present year includes Dr. Strong's "New Bra," and both volumes of Wyckoff's "Workers."

Dr. Johnson, who came to visit, was detained to speak upon temperance.

"How a Home Mission Society Can Care for a Church" was the title of Mrs. Howard's paper, It was followed by a lively discussion of points she had suggested.

Miss Lilla Langley, fraternal delegate from the City Union of the King's Daughters, was introduced, and tendered a kind greeting from her society.

Mrs. Miley, of 'he W. C. T. U. brought the fraternal greetings of her speciety, and told of 'ts efforts at rescue work.

Mrs. Young, Predent, for the Virginia Conference, unvassed the work in general.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Opened by Rev. L. T. Williams, of Opened by Rev. L. T. Williams, of Trinity.

Minutes of the merning session and of the Mission Board meeting, were read and approved. The Board consists of the following "members: Cumberland Street—Meeting Dusch, Balley and Brown: Epw rib—Miss Maggie Dey, Mrs. Wm. " Icr. Mrs. Faville: Trinity—Meedyme I. C. Norsworthy, Mr. J. Jarvis and T. W. Sanderlin—Chairman, Mrs. Paville; Secretary, Mrs. Brown.

Rev. J. B. Merritt presented his work among the sailors. His parishtoners are affoat upon eyery sea.

Mr. Edward Camp discussed "Our Factory People." He said two things night be done to help them: Legismith be done to help them: Legismith to the sailors of the sailors of the sailors of the sailors of the State Fair, was shipped last night to Roanoke.

Hilka was distanced in the above noted race. Her poor work was probably caused by her being out of condition. Since the races she has been undergoing treatment here.

day; refined people of leisure might give themselves.

"Our Poor and Sick" was Dr. Speight's subject. He told a very platn story drawn from his own experience as City Physician to the Poor. The poor sick suffer more from need of nursing than want of medical attendance. Much of their sickness is due to improper food and housing.

"Our Unsanitary Condition" fell to Dr. Faville's lot. He pointed his remarks out of recent experience in Norfolk. Our poor are crowded and ill fed already and the tendency is towards greater overcrowding and more unsanitary conditions.

"Our Duty" was discussed by Dr. W. J. Young, who drew from the papers presented the practical lesson for the Home Mission Society. It was a talk as plain as any which had gone before, and showed clearly the wealth of human material to be improved and the poverty of our knowledge of how to do it.

After a vocal solo by Mr. Earnest, of Trinity, the Resolutions Committee rerefined people of leisure might themselves.

At the annual stockholders' and directors' meeting yesterday of the Newport News and Old Point Railway and Electric Company, W. J. Payne was relected president and Alexander Brown, of Baltimore, was elected to the directory, Among other directors elected were Calvin Orcult and L. P. Stearnes, who are identified with the Peninsula Railway Company, which started in opposition to the old line, and was recently bought out by Alexander Brown & Son. President Payne stated after the meeting that the two railroads will be run under separate names and organization. The Peninsula line will be in operation by the end of November, he says.

Mr. J. H. Graves, of Norfolk, has been appointed to succeed Mr. George E. Davis as chief clerk in the offices of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad here. Mr. Graves, it is understood, will arrive here Sunday from Norfolk, where he is chief clerk to Mr. John Unshur, and will cuter upon his duties Monday, President Spencer, of the Southern Railway Company, testified before the Industrial Commission at Washington yesterday. He announced himself as opposed to discrimination on the part of the railroads to shippers, and said he believed the remedy was to be found in the enforcement of the clause of the Inter-State Commerce law requiring the publication of all rates. He also advocated the abolition of the pass system.

Chairman Hyson Comes Back .

Hon, J. Taylor Ellyson, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, returned to this city last night and registered at the Monticello. Mr. Ellyson was here Monday night, and held a conference at the Monticello with Dr. J. F. Bryant, of Southampton county in regard to the factional differences in the Thirty-second Senatorial district. He returned to Richmond Tuesday morning.

Mr. Ellyson could not be seen last night. the State Democratic Executive Com-

AMUSEMENTS.

"THE TURTLE."

"THE TURTLE."

"The Turtle," the only real specimen of its kind, and without question one of the greatest successes of the day, is announced for to-morrow evening at the Academy of Music. "The Turtle" is so genuinely funny and is interpreted with such an artistic touch by players of distinction, that it stands quite alone among the farcical frivoilites of the period. It is essentially Parisian and is interpreted with true French adroitness and touch and vivacity by Sylvia Alice Lynden, Frances Knapp, Maud Otis, Ada Morton, Albert Hosmer, William McCreedy, J. E. MeGregor, Clement St. Martin and other admirable players.

"MY FRIEND FROM INDIA."

"MY FRIEND FROM INDIA."

"MY FRIEND FROM INDIA."

Theosophy is the basis of the humor in "My Friend from India," which comes to the Academy next Saturday, matinee and night, and judging from the results obtained in this bright comedy, it is a very substantial basis. The author, Mr. H. A. Du Souchet, gets the possession of his subject by eleverly entrapping a barber in the residence of a wealthy but illterate pork packer, who immediately conceives the idea of using him to push his family in society. Seats now on sale. Usual prices.

"WANG."

"Wang" is perenuial. This season he again appears on the scene, as shabby, impecunious and merry as ever, impersonated by that clever comedian. Albert Hart. The management states that the company has been selected with the greatest care and that the costumes and scenery are both entirely new, lending new life to this ever popular comedy. "Wang" will appear at the Academy on Mondary, October 18th.
"BECAUSE SHE LOVED HIM SO."

Academy on Monday, October 16th.

"BECAUSE SHE LOVED HIM SO."

The management states that the present theatrical season will bring to this city few, if any, brighter attractions than the production of "Because She Loved Him So," which will be seen at the Academy of Music next Tuesday, October 17. This play, which promises to rank as one of William Gillette's hest efforts, ran for nearly two hundred nights at the Madison Square Theatre. New York, last season and throughout the entire summer this successful comedy has tested the capacity of Powers' Theatre, in Chicago.

nla by LaFayette in 1896, when the latter defeated the Red and Blue eleven by the score of 6 to 4.

Coombs had kicked the ball to Coleman on Virginia's 30-yard line. Coleman carried it back five yards. Virginia sparred for wind. On the next line-up the Virginia quarter signalled "tackles left." The tackles dropped to the left end of the Southerners' line, and W. Gardiner, Pennsylvania's left end, allowed himself to be caught by the the trick and swung back of Pennsylvania's right end. The ball was snapped back and the Red and Blue line swerved toward Virginia's left end. Gersile came like a hurricane, grasped the ball from Shibley, and skirting Pennsylvania's left end, was off like a flash, and running like a scared deer, never allowed the Pennsylvania runners to get within ten yards of him. Coleman kicked the goal.

After all, Captain Hare is directly responsible for the touchdown. Virginia only wanted to play fifteen minutes in the second half and Hare insisted on twenty minutes. They finally compromised on seventeen and one-half minutes, and the touchdown was scored after the lifteen minutes of play.

The Virginia boys were unable to make any impression on Pennsylvania's line.
